Research interests or topics offered for PhD research (no more than 2000 characters)ⁱⁱ

I am a work and organizational psychologist, I am interested in positive organizational behaviour and positive management. My latest articles published in international peer-reviewed journals focus on engaging leadership, motivation at work (based on the Self Determination Theory), job-related well-being (work engagement, thriving) as well as job satisfaction in the multicultural environment. I am an active participant of the European Academy of Occupational Health Psychology, European Association of Work and Organizational Psychology, and European Health Psychology Society.
